NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—Announcement of the publication of the appropriation acts of the 92nd General Assembly was made by Secretary of State William J. Kennedy. Copies will be sent to state, county and municipal officials, public libraries, colleges, universities and other interested individuals and institutions, Mr. Kennedy said. The volume contains all appropriation acts passed by the legislature in regular and three special sessions during 1937 and 1938, and is issued as a supplement to Volume 117, Laws of Ohio, which will be published early next year.

The State Department of Health and the state division of conservation joined in a warning against tularemia, commonly referred to as "rabbit fever," during the remainder of the current hunting season as the result of increased prevalence of the malady in several sections of the state. More cases of tularemia have been reported in north and northeastern Ohio than in other sections, but within the last few days several cases have developed in additional districts, particularly in the east central portion of the state, it was disclosed. The health department has repeatedly urged persons who dress wild game to wear rubber gloves and has cautioned against inadequate cooking. It is said that although rabbits which contract the disease usually die within a short time, it is difficult for the average hunter to determine whether a rabbit is infected.

Twenty-four million dollars less state revenue during the first eleven months of 1938 when compared with the same period in 1937 was reported by State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley. He revealed that the state liquor monopoly declined more than $5,000,000, and the motor vehicle registration fees more than $1,000,000. The greatest loss was a decrease of more than $11,000,000 in sales tax revenue.

A new course offered in the college of engineering, Ohio State university, has become highly popular and its success is virtually assured, according to Dean Charles E. MacQuigg. He referred to the welding engineering course which was inaugurated at the start of the fall quarter in the department of industrial engineering. He said that there is a "healthy demand" for men trained in the welding engineering field and that students are availing themselves of the opportunity of the specialized training now being offered.

The quarterly bulletin of the Managing Officers' association of the State Department of Public Welfare listed the total population of the twenty-three state institutions at $37,792 which 24,244 were men and 13,548 were women. Ohio penitentiary was credited with having the largest population, 4169 inmates; the Massillon State hospital was second, with 3172 inmates; and the Ohio State reformatory at Mansfield was third with a population totaling 3058 inmates. Dr. C. H. Galloen, executive psychologist in charge of the state bureau of juvenile research and secretary of the association, said that the total population of the institutions has remained practically stationary throughout the current year.

The state supreme court, by a vote of four to three, held that a civil service employee may be suspended by an appointing officer for a reasonable period, not to exceed thirty days, for purposes of discipline and the official is not required to furnish a copy of the order of suspension and the reason for the action. The high court reversed the decision of the appellate court in the case of Howard G. Robinson, superintendent of the state bureau of criminal identification and investigation, who a year ago was suspended by Welfare Director Margaret Allman for "a period of thirty days for disciplinary purposes."

WIFE SHOT BY HUSBAND TUESDAY P. M.

David Hilderbran, 49, farmer near Jamestown, is held in the county jail following a domestic quarrel when he shot his wife Tuesday afternoon at their farm home. On the farm at the time, but not in the house, was a niece, Miss Lena Riley, near Wilmington, who called the police. It is said the farmer and wife disagreed over having their daughter, Mrs. Ruth Alexander, Springfield, spend the holidays with them. Following the shooting Hilderbran left by automobile with a threat of going to Springfield to shoot his son-in-law, Robert Alexander.

Highway patrolmen, Sheriff Henkel and his deputies as well as other officers started in pursuit of Hilderbran and found him some hours later in the middle of a corn field about two miles from his home. He was acting in a strange manner and to some it is thought he was demented. He is now in the county jail awaiting developments.

His wife was taken to the Dr. Hainey's hospital in Jamestown where a chest wound from the shot gun was treated. Her condition was regarded as critical.

The interest rate bid was three and one-half per cent. After consideration council declined the bid as stated above and authorized receipt of new bids and these must be callable. It is hoped to get a still lower bid on interest rate.

Highlights In Life Of Agriculture Director

John T. Brown, Mechanicsburg, a master farmer who served for eight years in the General Assembly before becoming lieutenant-governor in 1929, named Director of Agriculture by Governor-elect John W. Bricker, will succeed Earl H. Hanefield, who has held the position for eight years. Brown will be the first master farmer to hold the agricultural post in Ohio. He received the gold badge award in the first class of master farmers recognized in Ohio, in 1926.

Farm management is Brown's present occupation. He is vice president of Farm Management, Inc., a company which handles 50,000 acres of Ohio land for owners who, for various reasons, find such an arrangement advantageous.

Director-designate Brown long has been an active Republican. During the recent campaign he was president of the Ohio Bricker-for-Governor Clubs which built up an enrollment of more than 70,000 members.

From 1921 to 1929 he was a member of the Ohio Legislature. The following two years he served as lieutenant-governor.

While a member of the House of Representatives Brown was author of the original gasoline tax law under which hundreds of millions of dollars have been raised for improvement and maintenance of Ohio roads and streets.

For 20 years he was an Ohio State University agricultural extension lecturer at farmers' institutes.

In addition to service in other fields, Brown is president of a farmers mutual insurance company covering properties valued in excess of $2,000,000.

Born on a farm near Plain City, Madison County, John T. Brown was one of 12 brothers and sisters, 10 of whom were students at National Normal University at Lebanon, O.

Mr. Brown taught country school for five years, in Madison and Champaign counties, after receiving his Bachelor of Science degree at Lebanon. The Brown family lives in Champaign County, on Route 187, two and a half miles south of Mechanicsburg. Mrs. Brown formerly was Mary Francis Myers of Findlay. The Browns have two daughters—Margaret Lois, 13, and Sara Jean, 11.

The designated Director of Agriculture is active in church and fraternal organizations. For the last 20 years he has been superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school in Mechanicsburg. He is a member of Franklin chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, and also the Masonic order, Knights of Pythias, Grange and Farm Bureau.

CHRISTMAS COMES AND GOES

Christmas for 1938 will be much like the celebration of similar events during the past century, that is with the same thought in mind as to the event all nations desire to keep fresh in the lives of young and old.

Christmas in other years has been observed when we were in the midst of war, civil disturbances and economic upheavals, and we approach December 25th this year with the nations of the world more or less distrustful of each other. We find dictatorship in fact in important European nations. We have it in a milder form at home. The thought that Christmas and the birth it represents has been banished in foreign countries under dictatorship should serve against the form of dictatorship now being forced upon the people of this country. Hidden behind important boards and commissions are those whose loyalty to a Republican form of government under a democracy must be questioned. Communism is entrenched throughout our government and Communism repudiates the day we celebrate as Christmas 1938.

No one can predict what our own nation will face by the Christmas of 1939. We are eternally boring into foreign affairs and complicating our future under the so-called guise of trade treaties, some of which calls for our young manhood when the call to arms is sounded.

Christmas of 1938 calls for the Christian citizenship to stand guard against our entanglement in foreign affairs that we may be at peace at home and abroad when Christmas 1939 arrives.

AMERICAN MEDICAL SOCIETY UNDER INDICTMENT (?)

The New Deal has finally forced an indictment against the American Medical Society on some trumped up charge to meet the demands of Hopkins, Ickes, Perkins and other Communists that want socialized medicine. The Communists say the society has violated the anti-trust laws. If so what about churches, fraternal orders, Grange, Farm Bureau, all of which certainly have a right to say who shall be members and should not be. Citizens should welcome the indictment, not that the medicals are guilty, but to give them a chance to show what dictatorship is at home.

Contractor Frank McCurran is making good headway with the new city building in Xenia, the weather this winter being unusually favorable. Some of these days there may be a corner stone laying, a thing entirely in the hands of the City Commission. Former Sheriff Ohmer Tate is the chief building inspector which insures a one hundred per cent structure according to plans and specifications.

In speaking of the corner stone we learn that the City Commission decided some data on that valuable block of stone that would not meet the New Deal requirements. The building is of the WPA variety and part of the finance comes by the grace of FDR, the first dictator on this side of the Atlantic. Under dictator rules "WPA" or "FDR" must be on the cornerstone. Instead of either a more appropriate inscription would be "Erected and paid for by all the federal taxpayers in the United States."

The new city hall is to be two story, with basement a half story above ground and will have an elevator to eliminate the wear and tear on the city employees and those that must pass in and out on official business. The courthouse is a two story building and has an elevator but it was never used. Probably the county commissioners could dispose of this useless property at a bargain price to the City Commission for use in the new city building.

Mamma Roosevelt goes to bat this week in defense of the Roosevelt family. Since Mamma takes Jimmy's place in his insurance company directorate to defend his interest, without pay, in his own company, that specializes on writing building contract insurance, the sting was more than Mamma could stand. She says the family of a President must live its own life, just like any other family. She failed to state that the family of a PWA worker must live its own life on what daddy makes on a fourteen day a month schedule but none of these families draw insurance commissions from federal government contractors amounting to $31,900 on a single policy. Well, Mamma may do Jimmy some good as a director in his company, but she will have to let down on her gadding about at least a day or so a month, or she will be as much of a stranger in that office as she is in the new $75,000 electric equipped White House kitchen she had installed while men clamor for jobs and children cry for bread. Jimmy is now "working" for a motion picture concern at $50,000 a year, sort of a vacation from the strain of writing insurance policies. Mamma forgot to explain that Jimmy took a job with a motion picture company that, according to government reports, owes more than a million in income taxes. That job was not taken by accident.

Greene county tobacco growers divided eight each for and against the Roosevelt-Wallace crop control at a recent election. The issue over the country lost as it did with rice growers. Cotton growers are said to have approved the crop control plan. Why not? The government has already loaned growers almost the market price of their cotton and the New Deal now has some ten million bales under its control. Last week Washington loaned broken down China, almost under control of Japan by invasion, the neat sum of $25,000,000, in addition to many million back debts. Its part of the Wallace plan to sell China some of our wheat and China will pay for it with our money. And yet the press reports tell us that the New Deal will keep Al Capone in jail another two years as he is "nutty."

Alf Landon, Kansas Republican, who was invited by Roosevelt to accompany the U. S. delegation to Lima, South America, let loose a Monroe Doctrine speech some days ago that set dictators all over the globe squirming. It was one of those "mind your own business and we will mind ours" speeches. See Hull, who has been peddling free trade treaties all over the world which permit foreign made goods, meats and grains to land on these shores, duty free, in competition with American business, farmers and laborers, probably did not applaud the Landon speech. There will be no free trade agreements by Hull in that section with Alf Landon thereabouts. If so you will hear about it. It just came to light last week that little Patagonia, one of the smallest of the foreign nations, had accepted the Roosevelt-Hull free trade world wide prosperity plan and was shipping the first dressed beef to this country. And maybe that is not a nice Christmas gift in the American farmer's stocking.

When Roosevelt took over Wall Street, you may have forgotten it, that famous alley was to be cleaned from one end to the other. You were told the money changers will be driven out of the temple. They were so far as politics was concerned. To do the cleaning he first named a Democratic former bucket-shop operator from Boston worth a few million. Then a new fangled committee was named to supervise and enforce the rules. One member was President Hutchins of Chicago University but he resigned last week, sick of being a goat to cover up Democratic street operators and crooked bankers. He demanded that the Whitney case be re-opened on new found evidence that incriminated others. Washington said not and the U. President said: "Here's your job."

This had no sooner reached the nation's readers when an Italian with a criminal record, a swindler of the first water, used an Anglo-Saxon name. He soon had branches in all parts of the country with a "supposed warehouse" in Canada that had raw drugs valued at $18,000,000. This has been going on for months and months and thousands of druggist and physicians in the country bought stock in the concern. The smooth Italian had two brothers working the public for the company under assumed names. The head belonged to "exclusive" social clubs in New York and Newport. All this time the New Deal cleaning committee did not know what was going on, or did they? Records in government departments under control of Democrats, certainly not Republicans, maybe New Dealers, had concerned a former conviction of this swindler, have disappeared from the files. Even New Deal income tax snoots did not know what was going on, maybe? Reports now show that the latest Number One swindler and political protection for his drug company did 14 million dollars worth of imported liquor business last year. The company also handled two million dollars worth of army rifles, for whom? And the New Deal knew nothing about all these transactions that have been going on the past few years. The answer to it all is—Big contributions to the Democratic National campaign fund and also the New York State Committee, have covered until now a multitude of criminal acts. Death of the dago by his own hand from a revolver cheated the New Deal of the remotest chance of shifting the burden of responsibility by a conviction of the swindler. It seems to the writer that history records a "Teapot Dome" scandal.

We heard with interest Monday night a radio program sponsored by the American medical society in behalf of the campaign to combat infantile paralysis. The program was fashioned as a playlet using the experience of families that have had the dread disease. The idea of the broadcast no doubt was to combat the fake claims of "cures" that mislead the public. When the lines of the doctor in the play were spoken, "That the water at Warm Springs had no medicinal properties" but was just heated, we wondered if there was not some transgression on the claims of that report supported by public funds but where patients have been asked to deposit $1,000 before they could be admitted. The play brought out the fact that there are a number of institutions in the country equipped to handle such cases where they have treated water in swimming pools. The public will endorse any movement to combat any form of disease but the public has a perfect right to expect protection from imposters and fake cures. Thousands of cancer patients have been robbed by fake cures.

Mr. Paul Edwards and wife, Mrs. Estie Williams and Miss Ora Hanna left Thursday on a motor trip to Florida to be gone ten days.

Dr. Walter Hopping and wife of Buffalo, N. Y., are guests of the former's brother, Mr. W. S. Hopping and wife.

The regular business meeting followed, during which time the various committees gave their reports. After this meeting, the entertainment committee took charge. Mrs. Jack Neuman was the chairman of this committee.

Mrs. Vincent Rigio gave a beautiful Christmas story. The rest of the evening was spent in having contests and games suitable to the occasion and also in the exchange of gifts which were attractively arranged under a Christmas tree in the center of the room.
